

Gloucestershire Echo, 'Where I Live '

SHURDINGTON Saturday 23rd January 2010

- A final reminder that this year's series of 5 lectures by Alan Pilbeam, which was delayed due to the snow, will now start Tuesday 26th January at Shurdington Chapel 7 pm & will be held fortnightly.
- I must congratulate students at Shurdington Primary for producing a wonderful booklet on our village. It is full of photographs and write-ups by the children on all aspects of Shurdington from the church, public houses, village shop and hair-dresser, Social Centre, village green, Preschool and Scouts to the sports field and lots more. I am grateful to the school for passing on the booklet to the Parish Council and eventually to myself. I have now scanned the booklet and a copy is on view on our website for anyone to read and enjoy. Well done Shurdington school children. A bit of history in the making.
- A reminder also that Cobalt Christmas Card Appeal has now been extended to Friday 29th January. Please take your Christmas Cards to their headquarters at Linton House, Thirlestaine Road from Monday to Friday, 9am to 5pm.
- This weekend some 40 members of our Scout group will be at Youlbury Scout Centre, near Oxford, taking part in their annual Polar Camp. I hope to have some photos of the event on the website soon.
